SECTION I

READING COMPREHENSION

TASK ONE

Read the text below and answer the questions.

Hi Ben,

We have just come back from our summer holiday in France. During the first week the weather was great. Everyone warned that summer in the south of France would be hot, but it wasn't. Some days were cloudy and one day we had a thunderstorm. It was very exciting, but the dog didn't like the lightening or the thunder. The dog hid under the bed because the thunder was very loud!

In the second week the weather got even better. It stopped raining and the sun came out. It was still quite windy on the beach, but that was OK. My brother almost got sunburnt on his back because he fell asleep, but luckily it wasn't too bad though. One day we flew our kites from the top of the hill. We bought them at a local shop. That was great fun, but the wind broke mom's kite. She was a bit cross, but luckily we had lots of other kites.

We came home yesterday on the boat. It was very wet and not very nice at all. My dad said that next year we could go to Iceland for our holiday. He likes Iceland a lot and so does my mom. I don't think I want to go there because I'm sure it would be freezing and I prefer sunny holidays. I would like to go to Spain. I have never been there but I have heard that Spain is wonderful in summer.

Can't wait to hear from your summer holidays.

Keep in touch.

This means that about one half of the world's population has seen it at some time. From its first episode in 1989, this TV drama had everything. It had beautiful young men and women in swimming costumes, fantastic sunshine and perfect California beaches. And it wasn't just men who liked it. Sixty five percent of the people watching it were women.

Pop Idol

In 2001, British music boss Simon Cowell had the idea of a TV 'talent show'. It was for members of the public who wanted to be pop singers. Thousands of singers, good and bad, appeared in front of three judges and everyone watching the show could vote for the best ten by telephone, text message or over the internet. The idea was a big success around the world, and the United States soon had its own American Idol. Similar shows appeared all over the world, from Russia to the Arab world.

Big Brother

Some people loved it, some people hated it, but one thing is certain: Big Brother, the world's first reality TV show, changed TV forever. What happens when you put a group of young men and women in a house together and allow them no contact with the world outside? And what happens if they are on television twenty four hours a day?

A Dutchman called John De Mol had the first idea, and the first Big Brother appeared on TV in the Netherlands in 1999. More than twenty countries have had their own Big Brother since then.
